What we completed in July

JULY RECAP

- Completed the conversion-deduplication correction packet for form, call, CRM, and imported-event overlap.
- Completed three Search Console-informed service drafts for review, then completed a separate client-approved July 20 batch on pool decks, retaining walls, and drainage.
- Reviewed local-search intent, service-area coverage, and the relationship between paid lead events and qualified estimate outcomes.
- Prepared a verified logo, service-reference pack, and motion-ad production direction; no final motion render is claimed.

Primary goal

AUGUST PLAN

Build a trustworthy form-and-call measurement path that can guide budget around qualified estimates and booked work.

EXECUTIVE ANALYSIS

July combined demand generation, local-search content, and measurement cleanup. The paid account produced meaningful traffic and a large raw action value, but the reporting work correctly stopped short of calling that value qualified estimates.

The strongest operating asset is the combined form, call, CRM, and imported-event correction design. Once it is reconciled, the six-piece Vacaville content package and the active campaigns can be evaluated against estimate quality instead of surface activity.

July results and work completed

Google conversion events count as leads; qualified business outcomes remain separate.

Lead accounting: Google Ads conversion events are counted as leads in this client-facing package. Lead counts are shown as whole integers; when Google reports fractional attribution, the display rounds to the nearest whole lead and preserves the raw value in the supporting note. Platform leads remain separate from qualified, booked, or revenue outcomes.

Media results

Google reported 43.99 attributed conversion events on the Leads PMax path. Under this package's lead definition, that is displayed as 44 Google leads, with the raw value retained in the supporting note.

Business results

Qualified estimates, booked work, and revenue were not reconciled to the July Google leads in the reviewed source window.

August reporting focus

Google conversion events count as leads. Qualified-estimate and revenue reporting remains pending validation; deduplicate form, call, CRM, and imported events before using the lead count for scale.
