Meta, Google Search, and appointment measurement

REPORT STATUS

Current paid-media read complete; appointment follow-up is the next decision

WEEKLY SIGNAL

The Aug 3 to Aug 9 read captured two Meta paid-form leads and a separate Google Search signal. The work this week stayed focused on lead quality, search intent, and connecting inquiries to real bridal appointments.

What we completed this week

WEEKLY
READ

- Completed the Aug 3 client report handoff with the Meta and Google lanes kept separate.
- Captured the two current Meta form leads with the approved qualification fields and preserved a separate follow-up route.
- Reviewed the Philadelphia Search campaign, search-intent controls, and the pending image recommendation without applying a platform change.
- Kept the appointment path mapped from ad click through form submission and consultation so the next decision is based on business quality.

Primary goal

NEXT ACTION WINDOW

Match the two current inquiries to contact and appointment outcomes, then use that evidence before changing budgets, bids, or form settings.

Next planning period

August 2026

EXECUTIVE ANALYSIS

The account has a clean weekly signal: two Meta form leads, measurable Google Search traffic, and a defined appointment path. The most useful next step is lead follow-up and outcome matching rather than more spend.

Meta and Google remain distinct reporting lanes. Google conversion reporting is pending validation beyond the platform traffic and form signals shown here.

Channel performance

Aug 3 to Aug 9 activity and results by channel.

Weekly results and work completed

Weekly evidence is separated from downstream business outcomes.

Lead accounting: Platform-reported lead events are shown as whole integers where a current platform read was authorized. Platform activity remains separate from qualified inquiries, booked work, revenue, and other downstream outcomes. Unavailable fields remain pending validation.

Media results

The current weekly platform read contains two Meta paid-form leads and Google Search traffic from 46 clicks on 676 impressions.

Business results

Contact, appointment, and booked-consultation outcomes were not reconciled in the platform read.

Next reporting focus

Match the two inquiries to contact and appointment status, then use the result to guide the next campaign decision.
