This is the human handoff for the week: what moved forward, what the live account showed, and what is held for the next verified decision.

COMMUNICATION

July recap and August plan delivered

The client report was delivered on August 3 with the appointment path mapped from ad click through form submission and booked consultation.

META

Lead quality system remains in place

The Higher Intent form uses SMS verification, four qualification questions, and four approved boutique images. The current read found two paid form leads for Kimberly's follow up.

GOOGLE

Search campaign reviewed read only

The Philadelphia Search lane is eligible but limited by targeting fewer searches. Google recommended adding images. No recommendation was applied.

NEXT

Connect inquiries to appointment outcomes

Route the two new leads to Kimberly, record contact and appointment status, and use that evidence before changing budgets or campaign settings.

GUARDRAILS

- Meta and Google remain separate reporting lanes.
- Google conversion reporting is pending validation.
- No spend, bid, campaign, or form settings were changed in this review.

CLIENT BOUNDARY

- One client and one brand view only.
- Google and Meta stay separate where both exist.
- Recommendations are held until the next evidence check.

Sources and next read

Freshness is stated by source

The packet is intentionally narrow. It records the Aug 3 to Aug 9 account read, the work that was actually evidenced, and the next check needed to move from activity to business outcome.

Evidence standard. Live platform fields are used where the requested account was opened. Gmail, Slack, and canonical client files are used for deliverables and communication. Nothing is estimated when the source was not available.
