Deliverables and optimization notes

Prepared Aug 10, 2026

This is the human handoff for the week: what moved forward, what the live account showed, and what is held for the next verified decision.

RELEASE

Paid search landing page published

The Omega estimate page went live on August 5 at omega-landscaping-landing-page.netlify.app. The production readback confirmed the page, form action, tags, and conversion event wiring.

LOCAL

Google Business Profile rhythm carried forward

Four posts were confirmed live in the prior handoff and a second four post creative package was prepared for the next release, keeping project proof and service intent visible.

GOOGLE

High Intent Search reviewed read only

The campaign was eligible but limited by its bid strategy. Google suggested Display Expansion at +0.8%. That recommendation was left unapplied.

NEXT

Reconcile events to real project quality

Match the two reported conversions and any calls or forms to named inquiries and project status before using the account signal to guide budget decisions.

GUARDRAILS

- The account is still being evaluated by service and location intent, not blended with other clients.
- Reported conversions need CRM and project-quality reconciliation.
- No Google recommendation, budget, bid, or campaign setting was changed in this review.

CLIENT BOUNDARY

- One client and one brand view only.
- Google and Meta stay separate where both exist.
- Recommendations are held until the next evidence check.

Sources and next read

Freshness is stated by source

The packet is intentionally narrow. It records the Aug 3 to Aug 9 account read, the work that was actually evidenced, and the next check needed to move from activity to business outcome.

Evidence standard. Live platform fields are used where the requested account was opened. Gmail, Slack, and canonical client files are used for deliverables and communication. Nothing is estimated when the source was not available.
